Indian suburbs have truly evolved from distant side streams to India's centres par excellence with a distinct global character. Leading by example is NCR's Indirapuram, a proud city that truly represents the emerging upper class culture.

A fact, better visible in its world class malls, restaurants and multiplexes. Indirapuram is getting another boost of development for the forthcoming Commonwealth Games 2010. Notable among these is the widening of NH24, which would soon be 8 lane expressway, bringing Delhi even closer. A new Metro Station shall further enhance the connectivity to Delhi. Then of course the famous Fortis Hospital and other prestigious schools are also close by. It's a city which is modern and sophisticated, yet so uniquely in touch with our tradition.

Next-door neighbour to Delhi, Indirapuram is the most sought after destination for those seeking lifestyle of the elite. Acknowledged internationally as one of the top ten dynamic cities in the world, Indirapuram has fast emerged as one of the most sought after destinations for both residential and commercial purposes.

And in this city is located GC Grand, enviably the most luxurious housing project of Indirapuram.

On the periphery of GC Grand is the neighbourhood shopping destination GC grandstreet.
